Jan 22nd 2019 Meeting

The Tomos, Autocephaly and the Orthodox Church in Ukraine

Fr. Maxym Lysack spoke on the topic, 'The Tomos, Autocephaly and the Orthodox Church in Ukraine'. Fr. Lysack is Assistant Professor of Theology and Director of Eastern Christian Studies at Saint Paul University. He is also the Pastor at the Christ the Saviour Orthodox Church in Ottawa. Fr. Lysack began his presentation by outlining the structure of the family of fifteen Orthodox Churches.

Fr. Maxym Lysack – our January speaker

He clarified the various terms heard in the current discussions on the Orthodox Church of Ukraine. He explained 'autocephaly' that is, the independence of a local Orthodox Church in communion with all other Orthodox Churches.

Editor: Mike Dowhan (613) 822-7293

He also explained the 'Tomos' as the document signed by the Patriarch of Constantinople regarding the change in status of an Orthodox Church to full independent status.

eMail: uggncr1@gmail.com

Fr. Lysack provided a short summary of the history of the Orthodox Church in Ukraine from 1918 and outlined the recent status of the three Orthodox Churches in Ukraine. The present Orthodox Church of Ukraine is now faced with a number of challenges – to form one united Church; to avoid provocations that may lead to violence; the need to reorganize; to encourage the participation of the laity in the Church; to evangelize the population that includes about 25%-30% who are not members of any religious community.

Church property is considered as state property and rented long-term by the state to the Church. According to the present structure, there are no Orthodox Church of Ukraine parishes outside of Ukraine, and therefore, none in Canada. The presentation was followed by a question-and-answer period.

Initiative Begins to Digitally Preserve Ontario's Historical Vernon Directories

The Ontario Genealogical Society (OGS) and Library and Archives Canada (LAC) are working with FamilySearch International to digitize the historical Vernon directories for the province of Ontario. The initiative will begin immediately to preserve and make the directories freely searchable online for family historians, researchers, and Canadians.

Vernon directories were published yearly, by city, from the 1890s to 2014, except for 2010, when the company's ownership changed. They cover most of Ontario, including Toronto. The term "Vernon directories" is derived from the name of the publisher. The initiative will encompass an estimated 1,875 directories. The nonprofit organization FamilySearch became a logical partner, namely due to its optical character recognition scanning technology that will make every word searchable.

OGS approached LAC for the project because LAC holds one of the biggest collections of Vernon directories in Ontario. In addition to providing access to its collection, LAC will be hosting the digitization project. The directories are a rich resource for researchers because they list the names of local residents, their spouses, addresses, and sometimes even an individual's title or position held at work. This project will allow OGS and LAC to offer a very complete collection of directories for Ontario.
